

Fancy Feet

David and Justin Mann

Matthews, NC
fancyfeetdancestudios.com

Fun Fact:

David and Justin's choreography has appeared on television shows and on cruise ships.

There are those, who in a stroke of luck, have the opportunity to access their creative genes from a young age. The dance careers of David and Justin Mann began shortly after they learned how to walk. Fortunate to be raised by a mother who owned a studio, these two brothers lived and breathed the world of dance, continuously surrounded by the creativity and ingenuity that fuels the spirit of dance. Both award winning performers, these "unique, inventive, and passionate" choreographers are sharing their creative genius with others, and are now recognized as some of the greatest master teachers in this country.

David's new age, modern style of tap is well known in studios across the country, and his students love performing his work. Always unique, his pieces are memorable for their intricate footwork, unusual props and daring feats such as students tapping while hanging upside down. Without fail, David's choreography inspires his dancers and astonishes crowds.

Justin's routines are as emotional as David's are dazzling. Each piece Justin creates has an incredibly human aspect to it, some feeling, experience, story, heartache or joy that he manages to convey, never the same way twice. His passion and dedication for dance shines through in everything he choreographs, and his students never fail to connect to the emotions within the routines, and share them with the audience.

"...Students love them and admire the creative imaginations that both men have. Parents love seeing their children participate in such original and cutting edge work." Working, teaching, inspiring and motivating in dance studios all across America, Justin and David Mann have become household names. Talented beyond measure in their respective genres, these men have given innumerable gifts to the dance community.*

Matthews, NC
fancyfeetdancestudios.com

Fun Fact:

“The Sands” has become known as Fancy Feet’s “banner piece.”

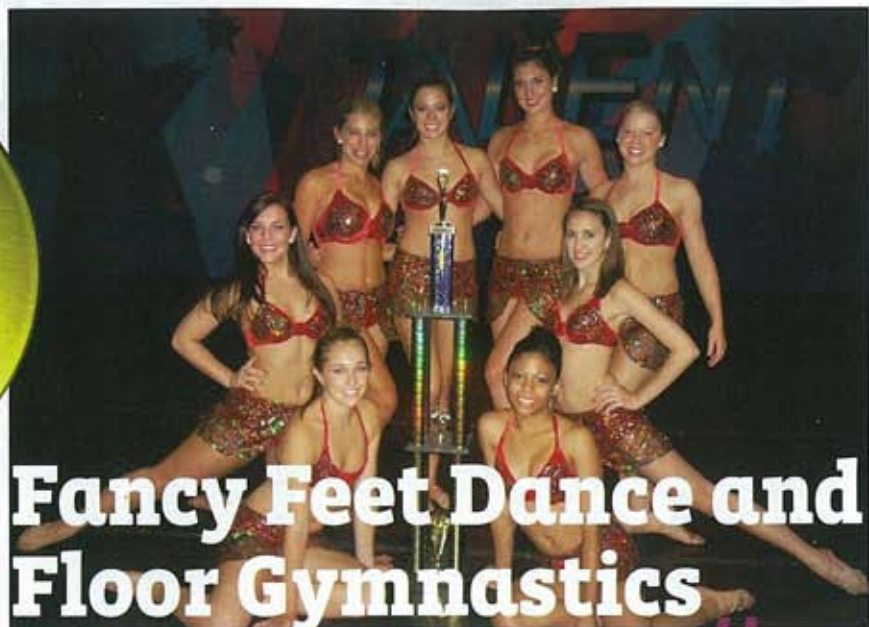

Fancy Feet

“The Sands”

At Fancy Feet it's a family affair! Director Paula Mann opened the school in 1985 to provide quality dance education in a positive environment. Her husband, Michael Mann, is the business manager and her two sons, David and Justin Mann, are choreographers at the studio. With 400 families enrolled and 90 on the competition team, Fancy Feet is dedicated to turning out dancers who are not only well versed in a variety of styles and techniques, but also true artists.

“The Sands,” choreographed by Justin Mann, was inspired by a close friend’s relationship follies. A thorough commitment to detail made this piece truly unique, often moving audience members to chills. The dance took only five days to create, but the most difficult part of creating the dance, according to Mann, was making the prop a reality, which he credits to Gale Orem.*

Fancy Feet Dance and Floor Gymnastics

Fun Fact:

Fancy Feet gives back by performing at local retirement centers, civic clubs and schools.

Matthews, NC

fancyfeetdancestudios.com

#1

Fancy Feet has gained a reputation for providing the best possible dance training in the area for nearly 25 years. With an experienced staff, a state-of-the-art facility and a wide range of classes, Fancy Feet has become known as the "pacesetter" of the dance industry. Students have gone on to enjoy professional careers from television to Broadway.*

ExtravaDance and Tumble

Kernersville, NC
extravadance.com

#2

At ExtravaDance and Tumble, under the direction of Sara B. Walser, staff members offer a wealth of experience in dance, tumbling and cheerleading. They are highly trained professionals dedicated to instructing in a friendly manner while emphasizing teamwork. The competition team is nationally recognized.*

#3 Dance Productions Studio of Performing Arts

Charlotte, NC
danceproductionsstudio.com

Dance Productions began as a one-room studio founded by Lori Oxendine Long and Angie Godley Bright in 1989. Now, it is over 7,500 sq. ft. with a total of three studios. The competition team has over 100 members who love sharing their passion for dance with audiences.*